THE "IRON MOUNTAIN BABY" HAS HIS PHOTOGRAPH TAKEN.

William Moses Gould, The "Iron Mountain Baby," which was thrown from a fast-moving train near Ironville, Mo., last August. The baby was only a few days old and was cast from the window in a satchel. It probably was the intention of the person who threw it away to kill it, but by fate it lived. It was found by William Helms, a farmer, living in the vicinity. Nothing was found to indicate the identity of the infant, and the farmer decided to rear the child. Helms is holding the child and his wife stands at his side.

LINDELL BOULEVARD PARADE STANDS TO SEAT MORE THAN 20,000.

THOUSANDS WILL REVIEW PARADE FROM STANDS. The seating capacity of temporary stands along the line of Dedication parades is estimated as 21,750. A. B. du Pont, No. 303 Lindell boulevard, 70. St. Louis Club, No. 263 Lindell boulevard, 80. T. H. Jackson, No. 381 Lindell boulevard, 40. De Soto Church, Vandeventer and Lindell, 1,200. Vandeventer and Lindell, northwest corner, 1,200. Three stands, between Euclid and Taylor avenues, 3,000. Eric, Euclid avenue and Lindell boulevard, 800. Circus seats, near King's highway boulevard, 2,000. Total, 11,150. Price for single seats, from 50 cents to $1. Box seats, from $10 to $25.

Temporary stands, with an estimated seating capacity of 21,750, have been erected on Lindell boulevard between Grand and King's highway boulevard for the accommodation of persons who want to have comfort while witnessing the Dedication parades Thursday and Saturday. The demand for these accommodations has been great, and the owners of several of the temporary stands were waited upon by hundreds of persons yesterday who want to reserve seats for Thursday and Saturday. The stands already erected along the line of the parade are small enough, but the indications are that there will be several thousand less than 21,750 seats after the building inspectors have done their work to-day and to-morrow. Many of the stands are frail structures, and it is believed that they cannot hold the number of persons for which they are intended. Permits for the erection of these stands were secured from the Building Inspector, but the license to build will be revoked if the inspector finds that the structures are unsafe. At Lindell boulevard and Sarah street, the Douglas Hotel, American Revolution, have erected a stand capable of seating 100 persons. An inspector who was examining the stands yesterday said that additional supports would have to be placed under this stand before a permanent permit could be issued.

SEVERAL STANDS ARE FRAIL. In the opinion of the inspector, the jobs were not strong enough and the stand was erected at too great an angle. "Several of these stands will have to be made and any stand considered unsafe will be torn down. Two immense stands will be built by the owners of their own, who cut down and mutilated trees on Lindell boulevard. These structures are being erected, but the Building Inspector says that the work will not be finished, on account of Mr. Wells revoking the permit. Some of the stands will be sold at 50 cents each, but the choice seats will command a $1 price.

TO IMPROVE STANDS TO-DAY. The Building Inspector and a member of his department will begin this morning to examine the Lindell boulevard stands. A thorough examination of the temporary structures will be made, and any stand considered unsafe will be torn down. Two immense stands will be built by the owners of their own, who cut down and mutilated trees on Lindell boulevard. These structures are being erected, but the Building Inspector says that the work will not be finished, on account of Mr. Wells revoking the permit. FRIDMAN'S LARGE STAND. At the northeast corner of Lindell boulevard and Vandeventer avenue, J. H. Friedman & Co. are erecting an immense stand which will accommodate 900 persons and which will be occupied by Mr. du Pont's friends. A stand in front of the St. Louis Club will accommodate 50 persons and is intended for club members and their families. The Columbia Club has a stand with a seating capacity of 20 and the University Club has one that will seat 300. At southwest corner of Euclid avenue and Lindell boulevard, the Sticks have a stand which will seat 800 persons.

At Lindell boulevard and Sarah street, the Douglas Hotel, American Revolution, have erected a stand capable of seating 100 persons. An inspector who was examining the stands yesterday said that additional supports would have to be placed under this stand before a permanent permit could be issued.
